We sincerely invite everybody to witness the final winner of the 2022 TFDA.

The 12 finalists were prudentially selected from nearly 460 contestants from 17 countries and regions including Europe, America, and Asia. Under the key points of the theme, such as “creativity”, “sustainability”, “functions”, and “performance”, the works of the finalists have their own clever designs on both techniques and artistic aesthetics. For example, magnetic field lines are visualized into knitted three-dimensional structure design and colorful yarns with different thicknesses are knitted together to create layers of painting texture; different materials are mixed and overlapped, blending classic and modern minimalist silhouettes, to extend the life cycle of styles and take into account the meaning of sustainability; a crossover design integrated technical devices allows the person who wears this clothes to interact with the clothes. All the contestants seize this chance to show their abundant design capabilities with their best efforts in order to reveal themselves.

TFDA is organized by IDB and executed by Taiwan Textile Federation. It leads Taiwan's fashion industry gearing to international standards, cultivates talented designers, and provides opportunities for young designers to grow in order to gradually enhance their design capabilities and strengthen the foundation of the industry.
